UGG NEWS

Welcome to the July Issue of UGG news!

First, a late announcement by Games Workshop: the 6th edition rulebook is out as you read this! I hear rumor that the new starter set will become two separate boxes instead of one. One army in each box, two to choose from. Again this is rumor because of GW's new "don't tell anyone" policy of new releases.

Have you gotten your free UGG 5th anniversary die? Then stop on in! Any purchase will earn you this custom made die for your collection! Roll a UGG "6" baby!

It's a hot one out there! Our A/C is working fine! We can offer you a comfortable place to learn and play games! We have a vibrant Warmachine crowd with a dedicated play/demo day and monthly events! Our Magic community is growing with Friday Night Magic and other supported events! Come on in and learn to play! Looking for something the family may like? Go to our website, on the LINKS tab, and check out the Tabletop boardgame reviews by Will Wheaton and friends! They explain how to play games that are perfect for the family to play!

If you picked up the new video game for Magic: Duels of the Planeswalkers 2013, there is a prize we have at the store for you! Just print out the promotional form within the game for your free pack!

We will be running the new Decent board game promotional demo event. Look for a last minute addition to the July calendar or more likely to be hosted in August!

Our valued employee, Dante, is leaving us for a job in the Arts/movie field, as per his education! We wish him good luck and welcome in Tanya and Andrew, our new helpers!

Star Wars: X-wing miniatures game

by Fantasy Flight

Players take on the role of squad leaders, commanding a group of merciless Imperial or daring Rebel pilots in furious ship-to-ship space combat. Featuring stunningly detailed and painted miniatures, X-wing recreates exciting Star Wars space battles from small engagements of only a couple of crafts, to large conflicts where multiple squadrons clash.

Select and equip your ships, pick your crew, plan your attack, and complete your mission! Scheduled to ship in July!

Several expansion packs are also scheduled for July. Tie advanced, Tie fighter, X-wing, Y-wing, and dice sets.

Base game $39.95
Ship expansions: $14.95

Munchkin: Conan

by Steve Jackson Games

Kill the monsters, take their stuff, and hear the lamentations of their women! Conan—challenging the world, slaying monsters, defeating armies, laughing in the face of death! Robert E. Howard's epic hero gets the full Munchkin treatment in Munchkin Conan, a 168-card core set—totally compatible with the Munchkin line of games—that draws from the entire Conan mythos, giving players Conan's most fabulous treasures, and pitting them against the barbarian's most terrifying foes! Scheduled to ship in July!

Arnold voice optional.

MSRP: $24.95

Warmachine: Colossals

by Privateer Press

Super-Sized face wrecking! Darkness descends upon the nations of the Iron Kingdoms as the undead legions of Cryx overwhelm Point Bourne, revealing their true strength. As war once again consumes the land, the embattled nations race to deploy colossal warjacks bristling with weaponry to turn the tide. But the emergence of new threats, both ancient and unseen, will force old enemies into uneasy cooperation in a fight for survival! The next thrilling chapter of the Warmachine saga, Colossals elevates your game with powerful, new, colossal warjacks, new warcasters for each faction, fully compiled and updated Unbound rules, and Theme Force lists for each new warcaster.

If you play Warmachine, this book will contain vital information and storyline to enhance your game! Due out in July!

Soft Cover: $34.99

Hard Cover: $44.99

In King of Tokyo, you play as mutant monsters, gigantic robots, and aliens – all of whom are happily whacking each other in a joyous atmosphere in order to become the one and only King of Tokyo.

This is one of the simplest games I've played, which in no way is bad. It allows for quick explanation and assimilation of the rules, meaning you can get to playing and having fun even quicker. The game starts with players rolling six dice. The dice show the following six symbols: 1, 2 or 3 Points of Destruction, Energy, Healing and Whack. Over three successive throws, players choose whether to keep or discard each die in order to win destruction points, hoard energy, restore health, or whack other players into understanding that Tokyo is your territory.

Top this off with special cards purchased with energy that have a permanent or temporary effect, such as the growing of a second head which grants you an additional die, body armor, nova death ray, and more.

In order to win the game, one player must either destroy Tokyo by accumulating 20 destruction points, or be the only surviving monster once the fighting has ended.

King of Tokyo is at its essence, playing King of the Hill. Each monster vying for the title of king can attack the current king, however the King can retaliate and attack all of his enemies at once.

This is a great game, especially for casual gamers and families it would be a great game to bring to a party, King of Tokyo is easy set up and to clean up, the art is great and the game play is strategic and engaging without overly complex rules and minutia. This has become one of my favorite games. Hope you guys get a chance to play.

Got any questions or comments about these games? Shoot us an e-mail or give us a call! Until next time!

Seasons

In Seasons, players assume the role of one of the greatest sorcerers of the time, participating in the legendary tournament of the twelve seasons. Your goal: is to raise the most victory points by gathering energy and summoning familiars and magic items. If you amass enough crystals and symbols of prestige, you will become the kingdom's most illustrious mage.

Optimize the cards through skillful combinations, using the seasons wisely to access the energies of the crystals and become the new Archmage of the Kingdom of Xidit.

Seasons is due out in August .
